F. U. A. CO-OP ATTACKS FARM COSTS

As announced recently U.F.A. Co-operative Limited has purchased the marketing facilities and trade brands of Maple Leaf Petroleum Ltd. for approximately one million dollars. This development is regarded as an important step forward in the field of co-operative petroleum marketing in Alberta.

In making this announcement, Mr. George E. Church, president of U.F.A. Co-op pointed out that the 27 million gallon volume of the co-operative placed it in the position of being one of the largest independent petroleum jobbers in Western Canada. Mr. Church said it is expected that this expansion will result in greater savings and consequent increased patronage dividends to the farm member patrons of the U.F.A. Co-op. In the years it has operated, U.F.A. Co-op has earned over 2 million dollars in dividends for its members. In these days of increased cost of farm operations it is more important than ever that farmers take advantage of every opportunity to save money.

Mr. Church stated that in view of these facts the Board and management expected that in each district served by a U.F.A. Co-op oil agency farmers will be patronizing it in increasing numbers.

He also said that in districts not now served by a U.F.A. Co-op oil agency, farmers would undoubtedly be considering how they could organize such an outlet. This could be done either by a local Co-op Association providing the plant and equipment and obtaining their supplies from U.F.A. Co-op or by U.F.A. Co-op setting up an agency on the advice of a local advisory committee.

In any case, farmers can now make even greater savings than previously, by purchasing top quality Maple Leaf gasolines, oils and greases from their U.F.A. Co-op oil agent.

Permanent Plates Sounds Logical

Have the provincial governments considered the much greater economy that could be achieved if every car had a permanent number and a plate designed to last for years, if not forever, asks The Financial Post.

This is the system in Britain and some other communities, and it results in a greater saving in both the clerical costs of registering new numbers and the manufacturing cost of new plates.

The police would be helped in the enforcement of traffic laws and the tracing of stolen cars if this system were adopted. As for making sure that everybody pays his annual licence fee, this surely could be done by stickers on the windshield and, as at present, by checking the books kept by the licensing authorities and issuing summonses to non-payers.

Is it sheer inertia that ties us to the present arrangement; or is there an argument in its favor? We've never been able to extract one.

R.D. Presbyterial Holds Convention

Mrs. P. O. Suter was elected president of the Red Deer Presbyterial of the Woman's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada at the annual meeting on February 22 at the Gazette Memorial Church, Red Deer.

Mrs. J. C. Hainsworth of Lacombe brought in the names of the new slate of officers, which included Mrs. J. Robertson of Didsbury, for literature.

"Christ's in Faith and Witness" was the theme of the meeting. Guest speaker was Miss Gertrude Gamilton of Tokyo, Japan, who for many years was principal of the Kofu Girls' high school. Through her two addresses in which she presented her intimate knowledge and rich understanding, the rise of Japanese women from slavery to freedom. While Japan has a high rate of literacy there is still much over-crowding and poverty and need for missionary work.

For The Dishonest

Some politicians are seeking the vote of the dishonest workmen. Included in the term dishonest workmen might be the careless and lazy workmen. Presumably the politicians, whose realism may be as great as their cynicism, believe that the dishonest, careless and lazy workmen exceed in numbers the honest.

Such thoughts arise from reading the proposal of one political party that the unemployment insurance benefits be enlarged, extended to 32 weeks, and that the waiting period be abolished. Thus the wild bidding continues to the dismay and disgust of people of all parties who would hope that government would tend to return to its elemental function of protection of the citizen from internal and external foes.

If bidding on the basis of unemployment insurance is to continue, it might be suggested that the unemployment insurance be 110 per cent of the wage and that the terms of payment be extended to a thousand weeks or for life, whichever terminates last.

The fact that such proposals are non-sensical never deters the appellant for the suffrage of the suffering taxpayers. Neither is there any indication that union leadership has led to an enhancement of the pride of workmanship. The rules, implied if not expressed, compel or try to persuade the honest Canadian workman to produce as little as possible and of as low quality as possible. It has reached the stage in some industries that the honesty of the workman causes him to warn the prospective purchaser that he would better buy some other brand of wadget than the one for the quality of which he is partially responsible.

There was a time when the workman in a factory was fiercely loyal to the products of that factory. But now he apparently expects the sales department to overcome not only inferior workmanship but also the sneers of the worker at his own output.

On Gambling . . .

You never gamble? Then you are in the minority.

A Gallup poll several years ago revealed that 57 per cent of adults gamble at one time or another. Annual take from slot machines is a billion dollars — and that means the amount the operators pocket from the back of the machines. It is estimated that 20 to 25 billion dollars a year go into organized gambling. Raffles and bingo games boost the annual total close to 30 billions.

These startling figures on American gambling were reported by a writer in Reader's Digest. But he hastens to add that Americans should not necessarily be considered a gambling-mad people.

"Most Latin American nations help finance their governments with lotteries," he points out. Turkey uses them to support welfare projects, Sweden to finance cultural activities, France to balance the budget. Norway, Russia, Holland, Belgium, Greece, Italy, Japan, all have national lotteries. Gambling is a big business in Britain with 70,000 employees.

But enough Americans gamble often enough to profit from the writer's warnings on the odds against them:

"At the races, where you make legal bets through pari-mutuel machines, the track and the state take 10 to 22 per cent of your money before your horse leaves the starting gate. The slot machines are regularly set to yield as little as 20 cents on the dollar. The numbers game, where your mathematical odds of winning are usually one in 999, pays out at only 0 to 60 per cent of that ratio to a winner."

The Reader's Digest article lists five symptoms of the sick gambler as noted by a famous psychoanalyst:

1. He habitually takes chances, as contrasted with the time-to-time chance-taking of the normal man.
2. Gambling is the focal point of his life.
3. He never learns from experience.
4. He never stops when he has won.
5. He finds the thrill of gambling in the pleasurable-painful tension of waiting.

Moral of the article: Run a mild gambling fever if you must, but don't get sick.

ANOTHER SUGGESTION

The Calgary Albertan suggests that the provincial government should have used the $11 million, allocated as a $22 dividend to residents, to provide wheat to the starving millions in other parts of the world, "with no strings attached as a gesture of Christian charity and brotherhood."

Time Now To Talk About . . .

The hail suppression plebiscites that took place around the country last Saturday. Seems like the majority in this area are convinced the scheme pays off — another fair-sized portion of the municipality voted in favor of having "smokers" in their vicinity some June. An area around Calgary also voted in favor of the plan. However, the ones who pay the tax bills around Red Deer turned down the plebiscite by a small margin, said unofficially to be by only two votes. That must be one of those 'wait and see' areas.

The Didsbury Ramblers hockey club. All amateurs in the true sense of the word, they were not given a chance by the "guessers" in the league playoffs against the powerful Red Deer entry. Showing fight and determination they carried the series to five games before bowing out, handing the northerners their only two defeats of the season in the process.

Time Now To Talk About . . .

The school variety concert staged here last week. It was the largest crowd ever to squeeze into the new auditorium and many had to be turned away. With close to 300 students taking part, there was a bit of something for everybody. Scenery and programming were tops, although once again the acoustics left something to be desired.

WEDDINGS

GOLE — EASTON

Spring flowers graced Knox United Church for the wedding on March 8, when Donna Anne Easton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Easton, exchanged vows with Mr. Herbert Allen Gole, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Gole of Didsbury. Rev. T. J. Stainton officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length dress of ivory brocade taffeta. The bodice of the princess line dress had a V-neckline in front and back, with lily-point sleeves. The lace-edged chapel length veil mist of from a cap of lace, sequins and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white and red feathered carnations.

Preceding the bride down the aisle were her two attendants, Mrs. Bryan Summers, sister of the groom, as matron of honor, in pink, and Miss Myrna Reimer, as bridesmaid, in blue. They wore ballerina length dresses of floored nylon, with white elbow length gloves and coronets of flowers. The matron of honor carried a nosegay of pink feathered carnations centred with a pink rose. The bridesmaid carried a nosegay of peppermint striped feathered carnations.

Best man was Mr. James Gole, twin brother of the groom. Ushering the guests were Stanley Gole and Sydney Larsen. Mrs. Lucille Paul played the wedding music. Before the signing of the register, Miss Bonnie Clarke sang the "Wedding Prayer."

The reception was held in the church parlors with 50 guests attending. Miss Bonnie Clarke sang "Because" during the reception. Mr. Frank Dunsmore of Rockyford gave the toast to the bride, to which the groom responded. Following this the happy couple left for a short honeymoon.

Notes From D.A.

By Howard J. Pulcher

The success in poultry depends on the care of the baby chicks. Today the hatcheries supply a very good quality of chicks. Factors for successful production are first, proper housing. Brooder houses should be well insulated and ventilated. Dampness or drafts can cause heavy losses among young chicks. Chicks up to six weeks of age require one-half square feet of floor space each. The heating is of prime importance. At two inches from the floor the temperature should be 95-100 degrees F. for the first week. This can be decreased five degrees per week until a temperature of 65-70 degrees is reached. Maintain even temperature. Losses will result from over or under heating of the chicks. Do not have more chicks with a brooder stove than the rating of the stove. Over-crowding leads to poor growth, cannibalism and also deaths.

Provide plenty of feeding space for chicks. About 2" per chick. One gallon fountain will be sufficient for 50 chicks, but when the chicks reach six weeks of age these feedings and watering facilities must be increased. Feed for chicks varies with different poultry producers but commercial chick starters generally prove very satisfactory.

At about the time the chicks are three weeks old, provide low lathe-type roosts, to start the chicks perching. Sanitation is very important. Have brooder well cleaned, disinfected and heated before chicks arrive. All feeding equipment should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected daily. The litter should be kept clean and avoid any wet, dirty areas, as these are the danger spots for disease and parasites. With good chicks, careful management, proper feeding, adequate housing, success will be obtained.

SOME ADVICE

Some boys on their way home from school were riding with a farmer. They were making considerable noise. To this the farmer's horses objected and began to run. The farmer turned to the leading noise-maker of the group and said: "Take that and crawl in the hole then pull the hole in after you." That was good advice for the noise-maker. An old friend would always say to those complaining about having lost interest in their work or of not feeling up to life's demands: "Crawl out of yourself." This, too, was good advice. Of course, such complaints may express accurately the users condition but often they express a mental attitude from which we all need to keep ourselves free.

An American publication of recent date reads: "Over 50 per cent of the people now in the hospital of America need mental help." While another writer makes this statement: "Half the people who go to hospitals could be saved that expense by regularly attending church."

Some people crawl into some form of empty living and spend the balance of their time here trying to make emptiness satisfactory. Others crawl into a sort of solitary confinement. They close themselves off from society and activities of a wholesome nature, with walls of petty interest and selfish motives. Here they grow stale. Circumstances sometimes make it easy to shut out the sunshine of new friendship, the inspiration of new ventures, the challenge of new interests and the joy of new victories. Someone once wrote: "A person all wrapped up in himself makes a small package."

One's business may be large and important. One's problems from whatever source they may come, can be real serious, but there simply is no way of living a worthwhile life from day to day, shut away from people. People only provide the much needed avenues to beautiful fellowship, lasting joys and creative services. Live, whole some attitudes and constructive interests have enabled multitudes to rise above limitations and handicaps to positions of note and places of fame.

Life must, to be successful, embrace a purpose. The larger the purpose the more robust the character, and the more contagious the worthwhileness of the life.

A man was asked, concerning the beautiful gardens in the town he had been living in for nearly two years. He said: "I never saw them." This man was content to go to his work, to his boarding place, and to talk over the long-distance phone. Surely he needed the advice, "crawl out of yourself."

One of our young men came from an eastern university to a western mission field. An oil magnate saw the young man's ability and offered $15,000 a year. The young man refused. The oil man then made the remark: "Is the salary too small?" "No," said the young man, "but the job is." "People," said the young man, "are more important than oil, and inner peace than an abundance of wealth."

The Rev. Huiji Black wrote: "There are things that belong to our peace and these things are as they were when Jesus said: 'My peace I leave with you.' The world changes and everywhere there are restless anxious people; people who need as man has always needed, 'The Peace that cometh from above.' A peace which can never be realized by folk who fail to get out of self and into fellowship with the Highest. Our advice to these restless, unhappy folk of today is, 'You try it.'"

"Lord make me strong enough to bear My little round of anxious care. The day returns. For this I pray. Sufficient wisdom for the day. Although I may not walk with kings, Let me be big in little things."

"Lord I would work and neighbor here, Too big to hate, too wise to sneer. I would be helpful, cheerful, kind, Gentle of speech and broad of mind. And though not far my circle swings, Let me be great in little things."

SWELL IDEA ! ! !
 A drunk was very indignant on being arrested. He staggered up to the desk sergeant, pounded his fist on the desk and shouted: "What I wanna know is why I'm arrested?" Sergeant: "You were brought in for drinking."
 "Well, thash different — thash fine. Let's get started."

WEEDS POISONOUS TO LIVESTOCK: Tall Larkspur, Death Camas, Water Hemlock, White Loco-weed and Shovely Loco-weed are to be found on ranges and other grazing areas in Alberta. The poisonous weeds usually begin to grow early in the spring, offering green, succulent forage before the native grasses have made much progress. Hence the stock may be tempted to eat this poisonous food before good forage becomes plentiful.

In the early spring months and during rainstorms stock often seek shelter in coulees and ravines. Certain poisonous weeds, especially tall larkspur, grow in these locations and stock are exposed to these plants when they are very poisonous. After snow storms, grazing plants are often covered and only the poisonous plants are left standing above the snow.

When stock comes out from their places of shelter, in which they have been during continued rains, they are often very hungry and exercise very little discrimination in their choice of forage. Certain plants are believed to be more poisonous when wet with rain or dew than under dry conditions. When the ground is wet, animals can more easily pull up the roots and bulbs of plants. In water hemlock, much of the poisonous principle is contained in the rootstock. The same is true of death camas. You would be well advised to pick up a pamphlet from me describing the poisonous weeds and make a study of them.

OH, QUIT ! ! !
 An Englishman returned to his home from a trip to America and was telling his friends of odd American games. "And they have the queerest game in the movie house. I think they call it 'Oh, Hell.' How do they play it? 'Well, when you go in they give you a card with a lot of numbers on it and during the intermission a man yells out a lot of numbers. Then someone yells 'Bingo' and everyone else says 'Oh, Hell.'"

Driver Tests For Teen-Agers

Alberta and other parts of this country will be watching the effects of the new Michigan law which provides that no youngster under 18 should be licensed to drive unless he has passed an approved course in driver education. The law took effect February 1.

Michigan officials have estimated that 70,000 youngsters will be given driver training in the schools this year.

The standards require 12 hours of behind-the-wheel driving and 30 hours of classroom instruction for each pupil. The program is financed from driver license fees, with each school receiving $25 for each pupil instructed.

While the legislation was passed in 1955, it was delayed until this year to give the schools time to expand their driver training programs and to enable the two major universities to set up courses for instructors.

Various states are watching the results in Michigan, especially in regard to a reduced number of accidents among youthful drivers.

The importance of driver training courses in schools has been emphasized for years by the Alberta Motor Association. Strong representations have been made to the provincial government but without success, one of the objections being that the present high school curriculum is overcrowded.

Nevertheless, the A.M.A. has pointed to the repeated success of driver training programs in U.S. schools and the resultant reduction of motor car accidents among young drivers.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Man's God-given dominion over material laws of sickness and limitation will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

Eightual selections in the Lesson Sermon on "Matter" will include the following from Isaiah 33:20-22: "Look upon Zion, the city of our solemnities: thine eyes shall see Jerusalem a quiet habitation, a tabernacle that shall not be taken down: one of the stakes thereof shall never be removed, neither shall any of the cords thereof be broken. For the Lord is our Judge, the Lord is our law-giver, the Lord is our King: He will save us."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following will be read (380:32-1): "Every law of matter of the body, supposed to govern man, is rendered null and void by the law of Life, God."

The Golden Text is from Colossians (1:12): "Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth."

END OF BUSHEL MEASURE IN SIGHT?

Hundredweights may replace the historic bushel as the basic unit for measuring grain. A move with that in view has been under way for some time in Canada and the U.S.

It's going to require a bit of mental exercise to try to figure out whether a 300 million ewt. wheat crop is big or little and if we put it in tons, that won't help much either. But aside from the weight that we are used to them, the present units have little to recommend them. They have well been described as a "conglomeration of accidents." Few of us can remember from our school days that a bushel means very different weights with different grains: 60 lbs. for wheat, 34 lbs. for oats and so on.

LIGHT YOUR WAY WITH BIBLE STUDY

Some years ago Robert Ingersoll, the noted infidel, delivered a funeral oration at the grave of the child of an intimate friend. There was deep sorrow in that home, and a word of hope and cheer was sorely needed. But Ingersoll had to content himself with vague generalities. The nearest he could come to saying a word of comfort was the hopeless line which has been quoted frequently ever since: "It is better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all."

How different from the assurance of the Christian, Jesus said: "My sheep hear my voice, and I give unto them eternal life; and they shall never perish, neither shall any man pluck them out of My hand."

That is why Paul could say: "I know whom I have believed and am persuaded that He is able to keep that which I have committed unto Him against that Day." There is no uncertainty about the Christian faith.

That certainty is based on the glorious facts once more brought home to us in this season of Lent. Here we see the promises of four thousand years all coming into wondrous fulfillment. We see God's Son walking the road of sorrow for us. We see Him suffer and die. All this, as God promised, that we might live, that we might have life and that more abundantly. If there is doubt and sorrow in your heart, if you are at the verge of despair then, we humbly suggest, take the one sure thing in this life — God and His Word — and there find your strength and your stay.

TOBACCO LAWS

The following is a reminder from the Didsbury W.C.T.U. in co-operation with the provincial Women's Christian Temperance Union:

Do you know that it is against the law to sell, give or furnish tobacco in any form to anyone who is under 18 years of age — and anyone under that age who smokes or chews tobacco in a public place is liable to a fine. It is illegal for them to even possess tobacco, whether for his own use or not.

Curling Story

"Don't talk to me about curling," writes a lady in the Oak Lake News, Man. "I never saw a game of curling but my Bill is a skip. After years of listening to how he had to cany game himself, I have come to the conclusion that four men are not required on a rink."

The lead is never able to put the rocks where Bill wants them. The second is a good sweeper but that's all. The third always misses the broom at a critical time, and Bill has to make the shots that win the game. You should see the demonstration that I have been privileged to witness for years at the breakfast table after he has won.

"Your eyes would pop to see how easy it is for him with the salt shaker to draw the port behind the bacon and eggs, wick off the cream pitcher and lay shot up against my tooth, behind the marmalade jar."

"There can't be too much to curling, so why not do away with the other three and only have the skip in each rink? This would reduce the number of curling widows by 75 per cent."

SMART LEO !!!

A big-game hunter in Africa was on his way back to camp one night when an enormous lion walked out of the jungle not 20 feet away.

As the lion was about to spring, the hunter fired his last cartridge and missed. The lion sprang too far and landed 10 feet beyond the hunter, who then ran for camp and made it safely.

The next day the hunter went back of the camp to practice a little shooting at close range. He heard a strange noise in the brush and went to investigate. It was the lion ... practicing short leaps!

NAME CHANGE !!!

"Sneeze" queried the immigration officer. "Is that your Chinese name?"

"No," said the Oriental. "that Mexican name. Chinese name Ah Chou."

THE PROVINCIAL AUDITORIUMS

Much has been said, recently, on our new Provincial Auditoriums located in Calgary and Edmonton. Both will be opened on April 28th with special Dedication programs arranged for the entire week. Three items in connection with the auditoriums should be known to all Albertans.

This artist's sketch shows a perspective of the Provincial Auditorium being built at Calgary and Edmonton to provide local and cultural facilities for Alberta people. The sketch shows an auditorium as it will appear from the main entrance. Seating capacity of each auditorium will be 2,700.

TESTING AND TUNING

A Testing Concert has been arranged for Edmonton on the morning of April 8th. This is not a "tickets available at the box office" program nor is it "open to the public". It is an "invitation affair" and there is a very good reason for it being so. All new auditoriums require a series of tests during construction and a final test concert shortly before official opening. They are necessary in order to ensure an acoustically perfect auditorium. It has to be tuned and only after the completion of a hall test concert can the experts be sure of the need for a so-called "tuning" or deliberate alterations. From the results obtained in Edmonton tuning of the Calgary Auditorium can also be arranged without another concert.

HOW ARE THE INVITATIONS HANDED? The audience for the test concert, for acoustical reasons, must be limited to a two-thirds capacity of the auditorium. This will mean a careful selection of all applications for participation. This will ensure that among the many prospective applicants, only the most sincere and highly musically minded will receive invitations.

The total test capacity of the audience is established as high as 1,000. Included are 150 people (members of the choir), and 100 to 120 who will represent the musically and physically trained professional world, such as music teachers, organists, choir and band leaders, university personnel, scientists and research workers, music critics, etc. The remaining majority will be the musically minded general public, members of musical societies, drama groups, clergy, university students of graduate classes, etc.

Alberta citizens interested in attending the test concert may receive an application form on request to the office of W. H. Kaas, Co-ordinator of Cultural Activities, Legislative Building, Edmonton, or telephone 293470.

SUNDAY—DEDICATION WEEK

Dedication ceremonies and a special program have been arranged for Sunday, April 28th, at the Provincial Auditoriums in Calgary and Edmonton. Tickets for this day only will be distributed free of charge on a pro-rata basis according to Provincial areas.

Citizens of Alberta will be asked to write, requesting seats. Only two (2) tickets will be reserved for each application and according to the pro-rata area allotment. Admission will be by ticket only. Further details on the handling of all tickets will be advertised in this paper next week.

While Sunday tickets are free, tickets for all other performances during the dedication week are to be sold.

DEDICATION WEEK

(April 28 - May 4)

All details of the Dedication Week Program are just about ready for release. On Sunday, the buildings will be dedicated and officially opened. Special programs have been arranged for that day. The balance of the week will feature programs every evening as well as matinee performances. Local artists appear in all presentations and Guest Artists and Hollywood Stars will participate.

Tickets for Sunday will be distributed free of charge (see above) and for the balance of the week will be on sale at box offices, downtown ticket offices in Calgary and Edmonton, and by mail order.

Men Who Make Alberta

THE FARMER

As it does with her sister Prairie Provinces, Agriculture forms the largest single industry in Alberta and the backbone of that industry is the thousands of men and women who have devoted their lives to the production of the first necessity of life... food. Since the days of the first homesteader, the man who has tilled the soil has been the key to a major portion of our economy. His faith in the future, through good years and bad, has been the cornerstone upon which our prosperity has been built. Thousands of town and city people depend on the farmer's income for their source of revenue.

As he prospers, so prosper Alberta retail outlets and industries.

However, the direct and indirect benefits to the economy of the province does not tell the whole story of the farmers' contribution to the progress of Alberta. Farm families have found time to raise and educate many of our outstanding citizens in every field of endeavour... Sons and daughters of rural parents have gone into the legislature, the professions and industry... raised in the clean, healthy atmosphere of the country they have carried with them a love for our most priceless possession: the good, rich prairie soil of Alberta.

M.V.B.C. NEWS

(From Our Own Correspondent)

The past week has been a busy one at the college. On Friday evening the senior class left the campus on its traditional "sneak." Of course, the juniors "sneaked" after them, and while they were on their way caused a good deal of difficulty for the seniors set-aside, much to their enjoyment. However, the seniors eventually made their way to the Maynard Snyder homes where they had a sumptuous dinner before they left for their weekend home near the James River church. It seems the Gordon Dedela family of Sundre had prepared this place for their retreat.

President and Mrs. Taylor accompanied the eight seniors on their sneak. During their absence the juniors were more than busy. LaVerne Neufeld, junior president, worked with his committee in preparation of the annual Junior-Senior banquet. Doreen Wolfe and her committee prepared a wonderful dinner; Ormond Sherick with his group arranged a pleasing program, and Lavern Traub and Mrs. L. Neufeld planned the decorating of the dining room, with several students assisting.

The motto for the seniors was "Before you an open door." Rev. Earl Archer was secured as guest speaker for the occasion and gave a message to the young people. It is sufficient to say the room, beautifully arranged and made colorful with spring flowers, made a setting of interest and the seniors were well pleased as they saw it. Mrs. H. Oke and Mrs. M. Snyder assisted in the kitchen and a supervision of the six young ladies who waited table: Grace Eby, Leona Reimer, Eloise Spreeman, Sharon Hunsperger, Joyce Traub and Ann Hughes.

Rev. W. Laing of the Bethel Baptist Church, Calgary, was guest speaker in the college Tuesday morning. He took Rev. Simpson's classes as well in his absence.

On Thursday of last week a music recital was held in the chapel of the college. Mr. Carpenter, Mrs. Taylor and Lavern Traub presented some of their students in recital. Numbers in voice, piano and organ were presented, and friends of the students were personally invited by those taking part.

On Friday evening Mrs. Kagey and Miss Eby accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Oke to Red Deer to see the second of two plays put on by the Literary Societies of the Nazarene College. Miss Eby served as one of the judges for both of the plays.

The last one, "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," was exceptionally good, she said.

We regret the information that came to us concerning the death of Miss Barbara Garner's father last week. A couple of the students left to attend the funeral on Saturday. Our sympathy is extended to this young lady, who has had so many misfortunes this past winter.

We are preparing a list of events to be held under the auspices of the college within the closing weeks of the college and will try to have them for you next week.
